THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES

Ron Greschner was drafted by New York in the 1974 Amateur Draft, and after only seven minor league games, made his Rangers debut on November 3, 1974 against the Buffalo Sabres. He is the team's all-time leader among defensemen in goals (179), assists (431) and points (610) and he participated in the Stanley Cup Playoffs 12 times, a team record.

Clockwise from top left, "Gresch" at his first training camp with the Rangers in 1974; in 1975 Ron established himself as a premier rushing backliner; in 1976-77 and 1977-78 Ron played left wing and center. Here he gets ready for a faceoff; in 1980 Ron made a guest appearance on the television soap opera "Ryan's Hope"; Ron, who always was an athlete that gave readily of his time to charitable organizations and youth groups, is seen here with his wife, Carol Alt, and former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson, at a benefit for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Association; Ron as team captain in November of 1986.

Richard H. Evans

President and Chief Executive Officer Madison Square Garden

Richard H. Evans joined Madison Square Garden in January 1987 as president and chief executive officer.

Shortly thereafter, he launched a comprehensive reorganization to strengthen and open new markets in the sports, entertainment, communications, and facilities management and development fields.

The four operating groups which form the foundation of the organization are MSG Sports Group, which includes the New York Knickerbockers basketball franchise and the New York Rangers hockey franchise; MSG Communications Group, which consists of the Madison Square Garden Television Network, Madison Square Garden Radio Network, Madison Square Garden Home Video, Madison Square Garden Boxing, and Madison Square Garden Television Productions, a Los Angeles-based television production company which owns and produces the MISS UNIVERSE, MISS USA and MISS TEEN USA pageants and is also involved in the development of other television properties; MSG Entertainment and Attractions Group, which is composed of Madison Square Garden Enterprises, which produces, co-produces and packages sports and entertainmente events in the Garden and elsewhere, and SRO/Pace Promotions, a leader in national and international motorsport events; MSG Facilities Development and Management Group, which is responsible for the operations of Madison Square Garden Center and the major renovation of the Garden which is currently underway and scheduled for completion in September of 1991, and MSG International, which will develop new business ventures domestically and internationally, including the development and management of other facilities.

Before joining the Garden, Mr. Evans was chairman, president and chief executive officer of Radio City Music Hall Productions, a Rockefeller Group company. Under his direction, Radio City, for the first time in more than thirty years, was profitable in 1985 and again in 1986.

With a background in the leisure recreation industry, Mr. Evans' experience has included all facets of planning, management and operations. He was founder and president of Leisure General Corporation of Atlanta, a firm which specialized in the development and management of leisure/recreation entities. He was also vice president and principal of Xcalibur Corporation of Atlanta, a firm which specialized in crisis management. Mr. Evans also held senior management positions with Mattel Corporation's Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, the Marriott Corporation, and Walt Disney Productions, where he was actively involved in the initial master planning, development and construction of Walt Disney World and subsequently was responsible for the operation of the resort division at Walt Disney World.

As chief executive officer of both the New York Knickerbockers and the New York Rangers, Mr. Evans serves on the board of governors of the National Basketball Association and the National Hockey League. In addition, he serves as a trustee of the University of Denver and a member of the university's National Advisory Board of the College of Business Administration, past chairman of the New York chapter of the Young Presidents' Organization and a current member of its International Board of Directors, a director of the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, a director of the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse, and a member of the Board of Directors of the New York City Sports Commission and chairman of its Amateur Sports Committee.

Mr. Evans received a bachelor's degree in business management from the University of Denver in June of 1966. He, his wife Carla and their children reside in Connecticut.

Madison Square Garden is part of the entertainment operations of Paramount Communications Inc.

John C. Diller

President
MSG Sports Group

Jack Diller, president of the Madison Square Garden Sports Group, began the restructuring of the New York Rangers franchise in the summer of 1989 when he spearheaded a thorough review of the organization's policies and personnel. That review resulted in the hiring of vice president and general manager Neil Smith and his staff.

During this past summer, the success of Jack's efforts with the Rangers were recognized by his being named president of the club, only the 10th person to hold that position in the 65 year history of the franchise.

In addition to his overall supervision of the operations of the club, Jack's wide range of responsibilities include coordinating the Rangers' operations with the other operating groups within Madison Square Garden.

Jack is also president of the New York Knickerbockers, and represents both the Rangers and Knickerbockers as an alternate governor with the National Hockey League and the National Basketball Association and is a member of various league committees.

Diller was initially associated with the Rangers from 1969 to 1974 as vice president, legal and business affairs, working closely with long-term Ranger president William M. Jennings.

A highly regarded executive with an extensive background in sports management, law, marketing and communications, Diller first returned to Madison Square Garden Corporation in March of 1987, prior to the creation of the Sports Group, as senior vice president, administration.

Diller's wide-ranging background also includes a one-year term as president of the New York State Sports Authority. Thereafter he operated his own management consulting and business advisory practice specializing in new electronic media and sports operations with corporate clients throughout the country.

From 1979-84, he was with RCTV, a nationally distributed cable television program service developed by the Rockefeller Group and RCA, where he served as executive vice president and chief operating officer.

Before returning to the Garden, Diller held senior marketing positions in professional tennis and information services.

The formation of the MSG Sports Group in July of 1987 afforded Jack the opportunity to couple his hockey experience with his business and administrative talents in leading the continued development of the Rangers franchise and organization.

A graduate of Georgetown University and Yale Law School, Diller began his career with Simpson Thacher & Bartlett in the general practice of corporate and anti-trust law before coming to the Garden in 1969.

Jack and his wife, Holly, have three daughters: Raegen, 18 (a freshman at Duke), Corey, 15 (a sophomore at Manhattan's 91st Street Sacred Heart), and three-year-old Mary Clare. They reside in New York City.

David C. Peterson

Vice President-Business Affairs & Administration, MSG Sports Group

Dave Peterson brings 30 years of business experience and devotion to sports to the New York Rangers as vice president-business affairs and administration for the MSG Sports Group.

Dave joined Madison Square Garden on December 14, 1987, following an impressive three decades at New York Telephone and AT&T in wide-ranging management positions. Most recently, Peterson was executive vice president-finance and administration for AT&T's joint venture, COVIDEA, where he directed the financial, human resources, planning and facilities operations through the start-up phase.

Extremely well-rounded in finance and human resources due to his vast AT&T background, Dave assists Sports Group president Jack Diller in making the Sports Group an organization responsive to the team's and players' needs and the company's goals, while striving to make the Sports Group a successful business organization. His duties also include preparing budgets and business plans for the Sports Group, and coordinating the Rangers non-team business operations.

For the past 14 years, Dave has been heavily involved with the United States Olympic efforts, and currently serves as vice chairman of the Finance Committee of the U.S. Olympics Committee, as we prepare to send our finest athletes to Albertville, France, and Barcelona, Spain, for the 1992 Games. "America needs more heroes," says Peterson. "That's why I love to see America's children succeed and do well."

Peterson is a member of the Board of Directors of the Jesse Owens Foundation, as well as a member of the Board of American Humanics, which emphasizes community services at inner city colleges.

A native of Deep River, Connecticut, a town deep in athletic tradition, Dave captained all sports in high school. Peterson is a graduate of Colgate, where he starred in both baseball and soccer. He is an accomplished tennis player and a tournament player in platform tennis. Dave and his wife of 31 years, Ruth, reside in Basking Ridge, New Jersey, and have two children, Dave Jr. and Robyn.

Neil Smith

Vice President and General Manager

In his first season as vice president and general manager of the New York Rangers, Neil Smith proved that he is one of the elite executives in the game today.

Named as the team's ninth general manager on July 17, 1989, Neil had the most successful first year of any manager in club history, as the Rangers finished in first place for the first time in 48 years. He was runner-up to Boston's Harry Sinden in the voting for The Hockey News NHL Executive of the Year Award.

Only one month after joining the Rangers, Neil tabbed Roger Neilson as the 24th head coach of the team.

"He is well-known as one of the greatest teachers that this league has ever had in the coaching capacity," Smith said at the time. "I feel Roger is just perfect for the New York Rangers."

Smith couldn't have been more on target.

Neilson, who was a finalist for the Jack Adams Trophy as the National Hockey League's Coach of the Year, guided the Rangers to the first place finish with a record of 36-31-13.

Although trading wasn't his main strategy in building the franchise, Smith did make four significant deals that greatly improved the team.

In September, he acquired left wing Kris King from the Detroit Red Wings in exchange for Chris McRae and a draft choice and the night before the season began, Neil obtained Randy Moller, a dependable, stay-at-home defenseman, from the Quebec Nordiques for Michel Petit.

On January 20, Smith sent right wings Tomas Sandstrom and Tony Granato to the Los Angeles Kings for high-scoring center Bernie Nicholls, who provided the Rangers with an immediate lift.

At the time of the trade, the Rangers were in fourth place with a record of 18-21-9. With Nicholls in the lineup, New York posted a record of 18-10-4 and went on to win the Patrick Division.

Finally, on the March 6 trading deadline, Neil dealt Ulf Dahlen, a draft choice and future considerations to the Minnesota North Stars to land speedy right wing Mike Gartner, who went on to score 11 goals in 12 games as a Ranger.

"It is my belief that patience and player development is the foundation of ultimate success, but sometimes adjustments can be made and weaknesses can be strengthened through trades," Smith said. "And, with these trades that's exactly what we did."

Smith had a very busy summer. In addition to relocating the development club to Binghamton, New York and naming John Paddock as coach, he obtained goaltenders Sam St. Laurent and Mark Laforest and forwards Jody Hull, Ray Sheppard and Tie Domi.

A native of Toronto, Ontario, Smith played junior hockey at Brockville, Ontario, before entering Western Michigan University, where he became an All-America defenseman as a freshman and team captain in his second year.

Drafted by the New York Islanders in the 1974 Universal Entry Draft, Neil went on to play two seasons in the IHL.

Upon the completion of his playing days after the 1979-80 season, he worked in a scouting capacity for the New York Islanders for two years. In 1982-83 he joined the Detroit Red Wings organization as director of professional scouting and the following season he took on the added responsibilities as director of Detroit's entire farm system.

Neil was then named the Wings' director of scouting/player procurement and general manager and governor of the Adirondack Red Wings of the American Hockey League in 1985-86. In his first season he guided Adirondack to a first place finish and the Calder Cup championship and in his final season, 1988-89, the team again finished in first place and won the Calder Cup.

Neil and his wife, Katia, live in Rye, New York.

Roger Neilson

Head Coach

Roger Neilson enters his second year as coach of the Rangers after completing one of the most successful seasons in club history, as he guided the Rangers to a first place finish for the first time in 48 years.

Known as one of the most dedicated and well-prepared coaches in the game, Neilson blended the veterans, rookies and role players into a winning combination that led the team to its best record in six seasons.

For his efforts, Roger was named as a finalist in the voting for the Jack Adams Trophy as the National Hockey League's Coach of the Year, becoming only the second coach in Rangers history to be nominated for the award.

Roger led the team to a 36-31-13 record, while the team allowed only 267 goals, the fewest since the 1973-74 campaign.

On November 26, Neilson reached a coaching milestone when he earned his 200th career victory as the Rangers defeated the Nordiques 3-1 at Madison Square Garden.

After playing minor hockey in the Toronto area in the mid-sixties, Roger joined the Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association (which was a fully-sponsored farm club of the Montreal Canadiens), in a scouting role. He became coach of the Petes before the start of the 1966-67 season and remained for 10 seasons. While there, Peterborough won one OHA championship and finished lower than third only twice.

His success in junior hockey led him to the professional ranks in 1976-77, when he was named head coach of the Dallas Black Hawks of the Central Hockey League.

After only one season in Dallas, he entered the National Hockey League as head coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs. In two seasons with the Leafs (1977-78 and 1978-79) he produced two winning campaigns, the last winning seasons that Toronto has had. In his first year, Neilson also took the club to the semi-finals in the playoffs.

Roger was named as associate coach of the Buffalo Sabres in June of 1979 under Scotty Bowman and took the head coaching duties with 26 games remaining in the season. The next season he was behind the bench the entire year as he led the Sabres to a record of 39-20-21.

In June of 1981, Neilson joined the Vancouver Canucks as associate coach under Harry Neale. Late in the 1981-82 campaign, Neilson took the reins of the team when Neale was suspended and went 4-0-1. He continued to coach the club in the playoffs and Vancouver, who finished the regular-season 11th overall, eliminated Calgary, Los Angeles and Chicago before being stopped by the New York Islanders.

His last head coaching stint was in 1983-84 when he succeeded Don Perry as coach of the Los Angeles Kings for the final 28 games of the season.

In 1984, Neilson became a co-coach under Bob Pulford with the Chicago Blackhawks and remained in that position for three seasons. Over the next two seasons, he worked for the Hawks in a scouting capacity and also did some broadcasting for Canadian television.

For the past 13 years, Roger, who has a degree in physical education from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, has run a five-week hockey school in Peterborough and for the past three years he has run a three-day coaching clinic at the University of Windsor.

His constant companion is his dog, Mike, a white husky Labrador, who travels with him virtually everywhere he goes, including team practices and daily jogging exercises.

Roger, who taught seven years at Willowdale High School in Toronto before moving to Peterborough, has traveled to Africa, Israel and China. Two of his favorite pastimes are watching MTV and eating at Dunkin' Donuts. He is single and spends the off season at his home on Chemong Lake in Ontario.

Larry Pleau

Assistant General Manager/ Player Development

Larry Pleau, who joined the Rangers organization in August of 1989, enters his second season as the club's assistant general manager/player development.

Pleau assists Neil Smith, the team's vice president and general manager, with the development of all amateur players in the organization, while he also oversees the day-to-day operation of the Rangers scouting department. In addition, he is involved in player transactions and the selection of players at the NHL Entry Draft.

While Larry is rarely seen at Madison Square Garden, he travels extensively throughout the year to Europe, Canada and across the United States to prepare for the draft and check on the development of Rangers prospects playing in high school, college or junior hockey.

Pleau, 43, played three seasons with the Montreal Canadiens (1969-70 – 1971-72) in the National Hockey League, before being the first player signed by the Hartford Whalers of the World Hockey Association. He was a center/left wing for the Whalers from 1972 until his retirement in 1979. He played in a total of 468 regular-season games for Hartford, accumulating 157 goals and 215 assists for 372 points. In 66 playoff contests, he registered 29 goals and 22 assists for 51 points.

During his time with the Whalers, Larry scored 25 goals or more on four occasions and was selected to play in the WHA All-Star Game three times (1973, 1974 and 1975).

Pleau also played for the 1968 United States Olympic Team, the 1969 U.S. National Team and for Team USA in the 1976 Canada Cup Tournament.

A native of Lynn, Mass., after retiring in 1979 Larry became an assistant coach with the Whalers. He remained in that position until Feb. 20, 1981, when he took the reins as head coach.

The following season he added to his responsibilities as head coach and became the club's director of hockey operations.

After two seasons in that position and a year as assistant general manager under Emile Francis, Pleau became director of hockey operations and head coach of the Binghamton Whalers of the American Hockey League in 1984-85.

In his first season at Binghamton, he led the team to a first-place finish with a record of 52-20-8 and in his third season (1986-87) he guided the club to a mark of 47-26-7, as he was named the AHL's Coach of the Year.

Larry remained in Binghamton for three and a half seasons before returning to Hartford as head coach for the remainder of the 1987-88 campaign and all of the 1988-89 season.

Larry and his wife, Wendy, live in the Hartford area with their son, Steve, and daughter, Shannon.

Rangers Assistant Coaches

COLIN CAMPBELL

On August 30, Rangers vice president and general manager Neil Smith brought 17 years of experience in professional hockey to the New York Rangers by naming former NHL defenseman Colin Campbell as an assistant coach.

Campbell, who served as an assistant coach with the Detroit Red Wings for the last five seasons, played 11 seasons in the NHL and one season in the World Hockey Association.

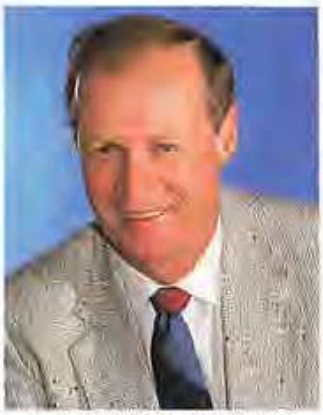
A native of London, Ontario, Campbell, 37, played junior hockey for Peterborough of the Ontario Hockey League. He was drafted by the Pittsburgh Penguins as their third choice (27th overall) in the 1973 NHL Amateur Draft, but signed to play with Vancouver of the WHA.

After one WHA season, Campbell switched to the NHL and played four years with Pittsburgh, one each with the Colorado Rockies and the Edmonton Oilers and two seasons with the Vancouver Canucks.

Campbell, who played on the Canucks team that went to the 1982 Stanley Cup Finals under Roger Neilson, signed with the Red Wings as a free agent in July of 1982.

He went on to play three seasons with Detroit and retired after the 1984-85 season to become an assistant coach with the team.

Nicknamed "Soupy," he and his wife Heather, reside in Rye, New York, with their daughters Lauren and Courtney and son Gregory.



WAYNE CASHMAN

After 16 seasons as a player with the Boston Bruins, Wayne Cashman is now beginning his fourth full season as a Rangers assistant coach. "Cash" assists coach Roger Neilson in many areas, including the on-ice preparation of the team.

Always known as a player with a tremendous work ethic and a love for the game, Wayne began with the Rangers as a scout for the New England area in August of 1987. After only three months as a scout, he was named as an assistant coach.

As a coach, Cashman has the same loyalty and enthusiasm that he had as a player.

Joining the Bruins for the start of the 1964-65 season, Wayne, a left wing, played 16 seasons, before retiring following the 1982-83 campaign. He was Boston's captain from 1977-78 until his retirement.

Cashman currently ranks second on the Bruins' all-time list in games played (1,027), fifth in goals (277) and assists (516), and sixth in career points (793).

A native of Kingston, Ontario, Cashman, 45, helped Boston to two Stanley Cup championships (1969-70 and 1971-72). He played in a total of 145 playoff games, most in club history, notching 31 goals and 57 assists for 88 points.

Wayne and his wife, Lyn, live in Allentown, Pennsylvania, with their two children, Becky and Scott.

RON SMITH

Ron Smith, who coached the Guelph Platers of the Ontario Hockey League in 1988-89 and who has been an assistant with four National Hockey League teams was selected by head coach Roger Neilson as an assistant coach on August 15, 1989.

The 46-year-old Smith was Neilson's top assistant coach for two years in Toronto, two seasons in Buffalo and two and a half years in Vancouver. He also served as associate coach with the New Jersey Devils under Doug Carpenter for a season and a half.

The native of Galt, Ontario, began his coaching career with Guelph (Tier II) in 1972-73 and remained there until 1975-76. Ron served as head coach at York University in Ontario for one season (1978-79) and he spent the 1985-86 campaign as an assistant coach and director of player personnel for the Canadian Olympic program.

Smith also worked for eight years as technical director of the Ontario Association and was instrumental in the creation of the National Coaching Certification program for Canadian coaches. Ron also teamed with Carpenter during the 1985 World Championships in Prague, leading Team Canada to a silver medal.

Ron played baseball in the San Francisco Giants organization in the mid-sixties where he was teammates with Bobby Bonds and Tito Fuentes. He spends the off-season in Toronto with his wife, Patti, and their two sons, Landry and Devin.

JAN ERIXON

Born: July 8, 1962 Skelleftea, Sweden
Off-Season Home: Skelleftea, Sweden

1989-90: Took a regular shift through the first 28 games until lower back problems flared up causing him to miss considerable time including being sidelined for 12 consecutive contests from March 2-March 27 . . . Despite being hampered at times by his back, he had another strong defensive campaign checking opponent's top players and best scoring lines . . . First goal was the game opening score in 5-3 victory at Chicago on October 8 . . . Next three goals were all collected against Patrick Division opponents including the game-winner vs. the Islanders on Nov. 12 . . . Assisted on Jeff Bloemberg's game-winner in 2-1 victory over the Capitals on Jan. 3 . . . 10 of his 13 points were accumulated in the first half of the season . . . Appeared in his 400th NHL game on Jan. 27 against Los Angeles.

NHL CAREER: 1983-84: Established himself as a strong defensive player right from the start of his NHL career while appearing in 75 of the team's 80 games and adding 30 points . . . Initial goal was netted in his third contest on Oct. 8 at Pittsburgh . . . Best offensive splurge began on Nov. 16, notching 14 points in 20 games including goals in back-to-back contests on Dec. 7 and Dec. 12 . . . Primed himself for the playoffs by scoring eight points in Rangers final nine outings . . . Tallied a pair of goals in five-game playoff series against the Islanders . . . 1984-85: Scored seven goals and 22 assists in his second season despite missing 14 games due to injuries . . . 21 of his 29 points were collected on the road including a team high four assists against the Devils on Jan. 18 . . . Scored his first career shorthanded goal on Oct. 27 against Quebec . . . Nine points in eight games from Oct. 20-Nov. 7 and 12 points in 16 games from Jan. 18-Feb. 22 represented his best scoring streaks of season . . . 1985-86: Playing time was severely limited by left leg injuries, a cut on his left shin suffered on Dec. 8 (missed 12 games) and a fractured left tibia suffered on Jan. 12 (missed 37 games) . . . Both goals were potted on the road, Nov. 8 at Winnipeg and Nov. 23 at the Nassau Coliseum . . . Contributed 17 assists, five vs. the Islanders, and recorded a plus 12 rating . . . 1986-87: Seven of his career high eight goals were scored on the road including a pair of two-goal efforts, Oct. 15 in Chicago and Dec. 30 in Pittsburgh . . . Six of his eight goals were tallied in the third period . . . Five of his 18 assists contributed to game-winning goals . . . Missed 12 games with hip and rib injuries . . . 1987-88: Defensive efforts were rewarded as he was selected as one of three finalists for Frank Selke Trophy which goes to the best defensive forward in the NHL . . . Other finalists were Guy Carbonneau and Steve Kasper with Carbonneau winning the award . . . His first goal of the season came on a penalty shot, Oct. 24 in Philadelphia . . . Other six goals were scored at the Garden and New York posted a 5-0-2 mark in games he tallied a goal . . . 1988-89: Played in only 44 matches due to right knee and back injuries . . . Scored two goals and four assists on home ice and two goals and seven assists on the road . . . Three of his four assists from Jan. 7-Jan. 19 came on game-winning goals . . . Recorded third career two-goal game on Oct. 23 against Quebec.

SWEDISH CAREER: The year he was drafted by the Rangers he was selected for the Swedish Junior National Team that captured the 1980-81 World Championship . . . Played four seasons with Skelleftea of the Swedish Hockey League with his best offensive production coming in 1982-83 when he tallied 10 goals and 18 assists for 28 points in 36 contests . . . Finished with career totals of 32 goals and 34 assists for 66 points in 130 tilts.

BACKGROUND: Military commitments kept him in Sweden for two years before joining Rangers . . . Has played all three forward positions during his professional career, both in Sweden and with the Rangers . . . Has been able to adapt favorably to the type of line to which he has been assigned . . . Very intelligent player, keeps himself between the net and the player he's covering and does not allow himself to get in a position to take a penalty . . . Winner of inaugural Steven McDonald Extra Effort award for going "above and beyond the call of duty" during the '87-88 season . . . Returns home to Sweden during the summer . . . Has worn uniform number 20 during entire NHL career . . . Owns two racehorses in Sweden, Quick Day and Indiana Bones, and he trains them in the summer . . . Married the former Marlene Andersson on July 14, as former Ranger, Ulf Dahlen was his best man.

BOB FROESE

5-11 176 Shoots Left
Born: June 30, 1958 St. Catharines, Ontario
Off-Season Home: Saranac Lake, New York

1989-90: Defeated Pittsburgh, 4-2, in his first start of season on Oct. 15 at Madison Square Garden stopping 30 of 32 shots . . . Won three straight decisions from Nov. 18-Dec. 6 defeating the Whalers and Canucks on the road and the Devils at home . . . Allowed a total of only eight goals in those victories, four of them on the power play . . . Lost his next three starts, a luckless stretch for him, as he allowed only seven goals while facing a total of 84 shots, but the Rangers tallied only three goals over this span . . . Made only two appearances in the second half of the campaign, a start vs. Pittsburgh (Jan. 8) and a relief appearance vs. Calgary (Jan. 25) . . . Was 3-4-1 at the Garden and 2-3-0 on the road.

NHL CAREER: 1982-83: Called up from the Maine Mariners of the American Hockey League in early January and made his NHL debut on January 8, a 7-4 victory in Hartford . . . In his third start on January 16 at Madison Square Garden, he blanked the Rangers by a 4-0 score . . . Posted a mark of 12-0-1 in his first 13 NHL appearances, falling one shy of tying an NHL record for consecutive games undefeated by a goalie at the start of his career. 1983-84: Spent the entire campaign with the Flyers recording a 28-13-7 record with a 3.14 average . . . Registered a pair of shutouts, both at home against New Jersey and Toronto . . . Went 7-2-0 in his last nine decisions. 1984-85: Injuries to his left knee and a pulled groin muscle curtailed his playing time to just 17 appearances posting a record of 13-2-1 with a 2.41 average . . . Was 4-0-0 in four starts vs. the Rangers allowing a total of only five goals . . . 1985-86: Enjoyed a terrific season winning the Jennings Trophy (along with Darren Jensen) for the best combined goals-against average in the NHL (2.99) . . . Led all goalies in average (2.55), shutouts (five) and save percentage (.909), while tying John Vanbiesbrouck with 31 victories . . . 1986-87: Won his three starts with the Flyers before being dealt to the Rangers on Dec. 18 in exchange for Kjell Samuelsson and a draft choice . . . 8-3-0 in his first 11 decisions for New York, 14-11-0 for the season . . . Registered his 100th career victory on Feb. 4 vs. Washington . . . 56 penalty minutes set a Ranger record for a goalie. 1987-88: Starting goalie in Rangers' first five contests of season, 3-2-0 with a 3.48 average . . . Injured his right shoulder on Nov. 3 and missed next nine matches . . . In first game back (Nov. 29), he stopped 29 shots in a 3-1 triumph over the Islanders . . . Was 5-4-1 at the Garden and 3-7-2 on the road. 1988-89: 9-14-4 with a 3.78 avg. in 30 games, 22 of them on the road . . . Recorded New York's only shutout of season, 5-0 at St. Louis on Jan. 19 . . . Starting goalie in Rangers first two playoff matches against Pittsburgh.

IHL AND AHL CAREER: Played for three seasons in the International Hockey League, including the 1980-81 season when his goals-against average over 43 games was an outstanding 2.98, and his average for 13 playoff contests was 2.16 . . . Appeared in 33 games in 1981-82 and 1982-83 with Maine of the American Hockey League accumulating a record of 34-22-7 before his call-up by the Flyers.

BACKGROUND: Originally an 11th round choice by St. Louis in the 1978 Amateur Draft, he was left unprotected in 1981 and claimed as a free agent by Philadelphia . . . Played four years of junior hockey in the OHA with St. Catharines and Niagara Falls . . . Sense of humor helps break pressure of his position . . . Played lacrosse instead of hockey until he was 12 . . . Wore uniform number 35 while with Flyers . . . Very well spoken, does numerous charitable appearances on behalf of club . . . Bought an antique automobile restoration business in Saranac Lake, New York, named "Neales Enterprises" . . . The shop restores classic and antique automobiles . . . Does a lot of work in the summer with Christian hockey schools . . . Married: wife, Ruth; four sons, Robbie, David, James and Kurt.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 15, 1978—St. Louis' 11th round choice (160th overall) in the 1978 Amateur Draft. June 18, 1981—Signed by Philadelphia as a free agent. Dec. 18, 1986—Traded by Philadelphia to Rangers for Kjell Samuelsson and a 1989 second round draft choice (Patrik Juhlin).

DEFENSE

RANDY MOLLER

6-2 207 Shoots Right
Born: August 23, 1963 Red Deer, Alberta
Off-Season Home: Red Deer, Alberta

1989-90: Acquired from Quebec in exchange for Michel Petit on Oct. 5 . . . Did not dress on opening night, but took a regular shift in the next 31 contests until suffering a dislocated right shoulder on Dec. 13 that sidelined him for the next dozen contests . . . Missed a pair of games in February when he irritated the shoulder and five matches in March with lower back spasms . . . Fit in with several blueline partners in his 60 appearances and contributed solid defensive play . . . Only goal of campaign was tallied on Nov. 4 in Montreal . . . Recorded three assists in 6-3 victory over the Islanders on March 2 and had a pair of two assist outings in October . . . Collected seven points at home and six on the road . . . Led New York defensemen in penalty minutes with 139 . . . Had an excellent playoff with a personal best seven points, including at least one point in each of first six post-season matches . . . Second on the team with 32 penalty minutes.

NHL CAREER: 1981-82: Did not play in a regular-season contest, making his first NHL appearance (one game) during playoffs . . . 1982-83: Played full season with Nordiques while still eligible for another campaign in junior hockey . . . Appeared in 75 games, most of any defenseman, compiling a plus 11 rating . . . Both goals were tallied vs. Montreal including a game-winner . . . 1983-84: Registered a plus 26 mark in 74 contests while scoring four goals and 14 assists . . . 1984-85: Solid two-way season, playing in 97 of Nordiques 98 games, 79 in regular-season and all 18 playoff tilts . . . Increased his offensive output to a career high 29 points (7-22-29) and improved his plus/minus rating to a +30 . . . Two goals and two assists in post-season action . . . 1985-86: Five goals and 18 assists in 69 games missing a total of 11 contests due to injuries . . . 1986-87: Five goals and nine assists in 71 outings . . . Missed nine contests with a broken hand . . . Led Quebec defensemen in penalty minutes with 144 . . . 1987-88: Injuries (neck and knee) curtailed his appearances to 66 games . . . Two of his three goals were game-winners and he amassed a career high 169 penalty minutes, third most on the team . . . 1988-89: Matched his career highs in goals (seven), assists (22) and points (29) . . . Scored two power play goals after collecting only one in first six seasons with Nordiques . . . Plus two rating was best mark on team and 136 PIM ranked second among Quebec defensemen.

JUNIOR CAREER: Played two full seasons with Lethbridge of the WHL and was Nordiques first selection in 1981 Entry Draft . . . Tallied four goals and 21 assists in his rookie season ('80-81) . . . Tripled his offensive totals next season, 20 goals and 55 assists for 75 points, including a five-goal performance in one match . . . Selected as a WHL second team All-Star and represented Canada in the World Junior Championship that season.

BACKGROUND: Aggressive, hard hitting defenseman, who doesn't stray far from his assigned position . . . Has experience on both right and left defense . . . Played with David Shaw and Normand Rochefort while with Quebec . . . Wore uniform number 21 while with Nordiques . . . Was the Nordiques player representative for five years . . . From the same hometown as Kelly Kisio . . . Coached in junior hockey by Ranger scout John Chapman . . . Older brother Mike was a right wing with Buffalo and Edmonton appearing in a total of 134 NHL games . . . Father is in the car business and Randy is a car enthusiast . . . Plays quite a bit of softball and tennis during the summer . . . Appeared with teammate Brian Leetch on the MTV Show "Colin Quinn's Manly World" in February . . . Married: wife, Cathy; son, Jonathan.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 10, 1981—Quebec's first round choice (11th overall) in the 1981 Entry Draft. Oct 5, 1989—Traded by Quebec to Rangers for Michel Petit.

RIGHT WING

BRIAN MULLEN

5-10 185 Shoots Left
Born: March 16, 1962 New York, New York
Off-Season Home: Mamaroneck, New York

1989-90: Playing with his usual low-key professional style, he produced a total of 68 points, second most of his NHL career . . . Reached 25-goal mark for fifth time in last six seasons and his 41 assists matched his personal best . . . All four two-goal games were tallied on the road and 16 of his 27 came away from home . . . Led the team with three shorthanded goals and ranked fourth with his plus seven rating . . . Eight goals and 24 assists vs. Patrick Division opponents including eight points in seven clashes vs. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh . . . 44 of his 68 points were collected in second half of campaign . . . Scored overtime goal with 13 seconds left to give Rangers a 4-3 win over Devils on Feb. 19 . . . Notched his 200th NHL goal on March 8 in Philadelphia and appeared in his 600th NHL game on March 31 against Washington . . . Two goals (both on power play) and two assists in 10 playoff outings.

NHL CAREER: 1982-83: Played all 80 games in his rookie season, mostly on a line with Dale Hawerchuk and Paul MacLean . . . Tallied 24 goals (seven on power play) and 26 assists while leading the Jets with his plus 11 rating . . . 1983-84: Increased his offensive totals to 62 points (21 goals, 41 assists) . . . Led the team in shorthanded goals with four while also adding four on the power play . . . 1984-85: Despite a mid-season knee injury, scored a career high 32 goals and 71 points . . . Had a four-point game vs. Toronto on Dec. 14 . . . Tallied the winning goal at 7:56 of the second overtime to defeat Calgary in opening contest of playoff series . . . 1985-86: Had another solid season, finishing with 28 goals and 34 assists for 62 points in 79 matches . . . Collected his first NHL hat trick on March 19 against Montreal . . . 1986-87: Ranked third on the Jets in points (51), second in power play goals (seven) and tied for second in game-winners (four) . . . Appeared in 49 of Winnipeg's first 50 contests, scoring 36 points, but dressed for only 20 of the final 30 outings, notching 15 points . . . 1987-88: Switched to right wing for most of his first season with the Rangers, producing 25 goals and 29 assists . . . 10 of his goals were tallied on the power play and his four game-winners tied him for second on the team . . . 14 of his 25 goals were tallied on the road . . . 1988-89: Ranked third on the Rangers with 29 goals and 64 points . . . Accumulated 18 goals and 17 assists for 35 points on the road and eight goals and nine assists on the power play . . . Highlight of season came on Jan. 24 when he was selected by Bruins' coach Terry O'Reilly to represent the Rangers in the NHL All-Star game.

COLLEGE CAREER: Developed into an NHL candidate during his two years ('80-81 and '81-82) at the University of Wisconsin under Bob Johnson . . . Despite being hampered by injuries he was chosen as his team's rookie of the year and was instrumental in leading the Badgers to the NCAA Championship contributing 11 goals and 13 assists in 38 games . . . As a sophomore, Mullen once again was a pivotal member in Wisconsin's drive to repeat as national champs . . . Wound up as the fifth leading scorer throughout the NCAA Championships as the Badgers lost to the University of North Dakota in the final game.

BACKGROUND: First hockey experience took place on roller skates while living in the Hell's Kitchen area of Manhattan . . . Along with his three older brothers Ken, Tom and Joe (now with the Pittsburgh Penguins), he played hockey in the schoolyard of the New York School of Printing, which was located across the street from his apartment building . . . Father, Tom, worked on the MSG maintenance crew . . . Worked as a stickboy for the Rangers from 1977 to 1979 . . . Science major while at the Univ. of Wisconsin . . . LEFT WING/DEFENSE

LINDY RUFF

Born: February 17, 1960 Warburg, Alberta
Off-Season Home: Amherst, New York

1989-90: Played his first full season with New York after being acquired from Buffalo in March of 1989 . . . Did not dress for 13 of the first 15 games, but took a regular shift for most of the rest of the campaign playing left wing and defense . . . Appeared in 22 consecutive contests during one stretch from Feb. 13 - March 31 . . . First goal as a Ranger was notched on Nov. 17 at New Jersey, while his next score came on a penalty shot on Nov. 26 against Mario Brunetta of Quebec . . . Final goal came on March 18 vs. Vancouver and two of his three proved to be game-winners . . . Recorded a pair of assists in 4-4 tie with Devils on Dec. 26 . . . Finished the regular-season one point shy of 300 in his NHL career . . . After not dressing for first two playoff matches, he played in the next eight registering three assists.

NHL CAREER: 1979-80: Moved right from junior hockey into the Sabres opening lineup . . . Tallied his first NHL goal in the contest, an empty-net score as Buffalo defeated Washington, 6-3 . . . 1980-81: Offensive totals improved to eight goals and 18 assists despite missing 15 games with a fractured ankle . . . Second on the team in penalty minutes with 121 . . . 1981-82: 48 points in his third campaign still stands as his career high and 16 goals his second best total . . . Tied for club lead with six game-winners . . . Missed only one contest and 194 penalty minutes is seventh highest total in Sabres history . . . 1982-83: 12 goals and 17 assists in 60 outings, missing 20 games due to ankle and hand injuries . . . Played almost the entire season at left wing . . . Four goals and two assists in 10 playoffs contests including a pair of goals in a span of 1:02 in first game of Bruin series . . . 1983-84: Injuries cut his playing time to 58 games, but still managed 45 points, second most of his career . . . Once again, was used mostly as a forward . . . 1984-85: Appeared in career low total of 39 games due to injuries, but still tallied 13 goals . . . Strong showing in playoffs, two goals and four assists in five contests . . . 1985-86: Shoulder injury after 54 games ended his season, but he still hit the 20-goal mark for only time in NHL career . . . Scored a career high four goals against Quebec on Dec. 15 . . . Shoulder injury brought his seven-season total to 152 games missed . . . 1986-87: Goal total dropped off to six as he spent most of the early portion of season back on defense . . . Appointed team captain in November after the retirement of Gil Perreault . . . Suffered a fractured clavicle on Feb. 14 that sidelined him for the rest of the season . . . 1987-88: An injury free campaign allowed him to appear in 77 games, second most of his career . . . Played almost the entire season on defense and his PIM total (179) was second most on Sabres . . . Played in his 500th NHL contest on Dec. 19 . . . 1988-89: Played in 63 games for Buffalo (6-11-17) before being dealt to Rangers for a 1990 fifth round draft choice on March 7 . . . Made his debut against his old team the following night and went on to collect five assists in 13 tilts with New York . . . Tallied his 100th NHL goal in Sabres 6-4 win over Bruins on Jan. 22.

JUNIOR CAREER: Selected as the Sabres second choice, behind Mike Ramsey, in the 1979 Entry Draft from the Lethbridge Broncos of the Western Hockey League . . . Played two full seasons with the Broncos helping them to a first place finish in the Central Division in '77-78 and a second place finish in '78-79 although his playing time was curtailed by injuries.

BACKGROUND: No nonsense type of player, steady, tough and aggressive . . . Likeable, easy going personality . . . Appeared in 608 games for Sabres, eighth most in team history and recorded 1,126 PIM, second most in Buffalo history . . . Has worn number 44 with New York after wearing 22 during his Buffalo career . . . Younger brother, Marty, was St. Louis' first selection in 1981 Entry Draft . . . Helped Sabres coaching staff by working behind the bench in 1986-87 while recovering from shoulder injury . . . Enjoys golf and tennis during off-season . . . Married: wife, Gaye; son, Brett.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: August 19, 1979—Buffalo's second round choice (32nd overall) in the 1979 Entry Draft. March 7, 1989—Traded by Buffalo to Rangers for a fifth round draft choice in 1990 (Richard Smenlik).

DEFENSE

DAVID SHAW

6-2 204 Shoots Right
Born: May 25, 1964 St. Thomas, Ontario
Off-Season Home: Zurich, Ontario

1989-90: Appeared in only 22 games as a right shoulder injury severely limited his playing time . . . Season got off to an impressive start scoring at least one point in six of his first eight outings including a shorthanded score in home opener on Oct. 11 against Calgary . . . Collected his 100th NHL point with an assist vs. Chicago on Oct. 17 and recorded two assists and a plus three rating in 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh on Oct. 15 . . . Fell victim to a subluxation of his right shoulder on Nov. 2 against Quebec . . . After three weeks of inactivity, he returned on Nov. 2, but played in only two contests before re-injuring shoulder . . . Back in lineup on two other occasions, each time for three games, making his final appearance on Jan. 8 . . . Underwent surgery on Feb. 7 and was sidelined for the rest of the campaign.

NHL CAREER: 1982-83: Made his professional debut at the age of 18 appearing in two games with the Nordiques . . . Returned to his junior team at Kitchener following his first taste of NHL action . . . 1983-84: Once again was called up to the NHL when he was an emergency call-up for three games when Randy Moller was injured . . . 1984-85: Played most of the season with Fredericton of the AHL but appeared in 14 contests with the Nordiques . . . 1985-86: Spent the entire campaign with Quebec notching his first NHL goal on Oct. 13 against Brian Hayward of Winnipeg . . . Total of seven goals was second best among the team's defensemen and his plus 14 rating led all Quebec players . . . Two of his goals came on the power play and two were game-winners . . . 1986-87: Played in career high 75 games in final season with Nordiques . . . Was diagnosed as having mononucleosis late in the campaign and it affected his play as doctors said he could have had it as early as January . . . 1987-88: Solid and dependable in his first season with New York setting career highs in assists (25) and points (32) and matching his personal best in goals (seven) . . . 22 of his 32 points were accumulated on the power play including five of his seven goals . . . Missed 11 matches early in the season with a separated left shoulder . . . 1988-89: Led New York's defensemen with plus 14 rating, while scoring six goals and 11 assists in 63 tilts . . . Registered a plus three rating on four different occasions . . . Missed a total of 17 games, 12 due to a suspension and five with injuries.

JUNIOR CAREER: Entire junior career (three years) was spent with the Kitchener Rangers of the OHL where his cumulative totals were 38 goals and 115 assists for 153 points in 183 games . . . Kitchener won the Memorial Cup in 1982 and reached the finals in 1984 . . . Selected as a first team OHL All-Star in his final season ('83-84) as he collected 14 goals and 34 assists in 58 games . . . Highest offensive totals were produced in '82-83 (18 goals and 56 assists) while paired for most of the campaign with Al MacInnis who notched 38 goals and 46 assists . . . MacInnis finished second among the league's defensemen in points and Shaw ranked fourth.

BACKGROUND: Moves the puck well, has considerable experience on the power play and penalty killing units . . . Unfazed by pressure situations, has exceptional poise . . . Well spoken and articulate with a good sense of humor . . . Very popular with his teammates, he is the team's representative for the Players Association . . . Has served as an alternate captain with the Rangers . . . Enjoys softball, golf and fishing during the off-season . . . Wore uniform number four while with Quebec and number 21 in his first three seasons in New York . . . Wife, Trish, ran in the 1988 New York City Marathon . . . One daughter, Jamie, born on Feb. 3, 1990.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 9, 1982—Quebec's first round choice (13th overall) in the 1982 Entry Draft. Sept. 30, 1987—Traded by Quebec to Rangers with John Ogrodnick for Terry Carkner and Jeff Jackson.

CENTER

Born: March 2, 1968 Boston, Massachusetts
Off-Season Home: North Bay, Ontario

1989-90: Earned a regular job after an excellent training camp and notched the game-winner in opening night 4-1 victory in Winnipeg . . . Scored at least one point in 13 of his first 15 appearances including setting a club record for a rookie with a seven-game goal scoring streak from Oct. 15 through Oct. 28 . . . Seven of his first 11 goals were go-ahead scores . . . Led all NHL rookies in goals (32), was fourth in points (66), sixth in assists (34), tied for second in power play goals (10), tied for first in game-winners (four), second in first goals (seven) and was the freshman leader in shots (205) . . . His 32 goals matched the third highest total ever by a Ranger rookie . . . Model of consistency, with 16 goals in first half and 16 in second half . . . Collected the Rangers only hat trick of the campaign on Feb. 26 against Boston . . . Tallied New York's first goal of the game 13 times to lead team in that department . . . Did not go more than four consecutive games without notching a point . . . Accumulated 28 points (10-18-28) on the power play . . . Missed one game (Oct. 21) with a bruised left foot and three matches in early January with the flu . . . Finished in strong fashion with four goals and 10 assists in last nine regular-season outings . . . Only playoff goal was the game winner in game four of Islander series and four of his six assists came on power play goals.

NHL CAREER: 1988-89: On Rangers opening night roster following an impressive training camp with four goals and two assists in six games including a hat trick in final Garden pre-season match against Hartford on Sept. 30 . . . Played in five of New York's first six contests before being sent to Denver of IHL on Oct. 26 . . . Re-called for one game in early February (Feb. 4 vs. Montreal), but was sent back to IHL on Feb. 9 . . . Called back to NHL on Feb. 19 and remained with Rangers for the rest of the season . . . Appeared in 14 of New York's final 20 matches scoring seven goals and three assists . . . Tallied two goals at Quebec on Feb. 25 and had a hat trick against Toronto on March 1 . . . Sidelined for two games with a concussion and missed another contest with a twisted right ankle.

IHL CAREER: Made his professional debut with Colorado Rangers in 1987-88 after completion of the season for North Bay . . . Scored four goals and three assists in eight games during regular-season and recorded two goals and six assists in six playoff outings . . . In 1988-89, he played with Denver and finished fourth on team in goals (21), assists (28) and points (49) despite playing in only 40 games.

JUNIOR CAREER: Selected by the North Bay Centennials of the Ontario Hockey League from the North Bay Midgets in the third round of the 1984 draft . . . Tallied at least 30 goals and 60 points in each of his four seasons with the Centennials . . . Best goal scoring year was 35 in '85-86 and his high in points was 78 in '86-87 although he was limited to just 55 games due to a hip-flexor injury suffered at the Rangers training camp . . . Bad luck with injuries continued in Rangers training camp the following season when he suffered a shoulder injury in a rookie game forcing him to miss North Bay's first 34 games . . . Still managed to finish fourth on team in scoring with 63 points in only 32 matches . . . Selected as OHL's Player of the Week twice that season.

BACKGROUND: Excellent skater, has had considerable experience on power play and penalty killing units during his junior and professional career . . . Utilizes a quick wrist shot and has a keen playmaking sense . . . Played mostly center with Rangers last season, but also appeared in nine games as a right wing . . . Low-key, yet out-going personality with a good sense of humor . . . Nickname: "Turk" . . . Enjoys playing cards on the road . . . Wore number nine in juniors and 28 in IHL . . . Among his teammates at North Bay was Kevin Hatcher of Capitals . . . Married: wife, Debbie; daughter, Amanda.

GOALTENDER

JOHN VANBIESBROUCK

5-8 172 Shoots Left
Born: September 4, 1963 Detroit, Michigan
Off-Season Home: Rye, New York

1989-90: Campaign got off to a fast start with three straight victories, allowing only eight goals while facing 110 shots, and he went 7-1-1 in his first nine decisions for the best start of his NHL career . . . 5-3 victory over the Canucks on Oct. 23 at the Garden was 124th of his Ranger career moving him past Chuck Rayner and into fourth place on New York's all-time win list for goalies . . . Stopped 26 shots on Dec. 9 at Nassau Coliseum in 0-0 deadlock with Islanders for his seventh career shutout . . . Matched career high with seven-game unbeaten streak from Feb. 16-Mar. 8 as Rangers moved from third place to first in the Patrick Division . . . Played in his 300th game as a Ranger on Jan. 8 vs. Pittsburgh . . . Added two assists to his all-time Ranger record of 18 . . . 2-3 in six playoff appearances with a 3.02 average and a .902 save percentage.

NHL CAREER: 1980-81: Just 18 years-old and still with Sault Ste. Marie of OHL when he made his Ranger debut on Dec. 5, turning away 30 shots in a 2-1 victory at Colorado. 1983-84: Promoted to Rangers near the end of season from Tulsa of CHL to fill in for an injured Glen Hanlon . . . Won his Garden debut on March 25 by a 3-2 score over Montreal and split his other two starts. 1984-85: Stopped at least 40 shots nine times during the season and earned the team's lone shutout . . . Eight of his 12 victories were vs. Patrick Division opponents including three over the Islanders. 1985-86: Established himself as one of the premier goalies in the NHL highlighted by his selection to the NHL first All-Star team and being presented with the Vezina Trophy as the top goaltender in the league . . . 31 wins tied him with Bob Froese (Flyers) for the NHL lead and his 3.32 average wans fifth best in the league . . . Became winningest goalie in one season in Ranger history with a total of 39 (including playoffs), surpassing the 38 by Ed Giacomin in '67-68 . . . Started all 16 post-season outings for New York, holding opponents to two or less goals eight times while posting a 3.27 average. 1986-87: Played against every team in the league except Chicago . . . Faced at least 40 shots six times and recorded a pair of three-game winning streaks. 1987-88: 27-22-7 with a 3.38 average and finished fourth among goalies in victories . . . Had a career-high seven-game (6-0-1) unbeaten streak from Dec. 26-Jan. 6 . . . Made nine straight starts from Jan. 22-Feb. 14 (5-2-2 during stretch) and was 11-4-1 in his last 16 decisions . . . Matched his own club record with five assists. 1988-89: Total of 28 wins (28-21-4) tied him for fourth among NHL netminders as he appeared in 56 games for second straight season . . . Recorded career high five-game winning streak from Oct. 16-Oct. 30 allowing only 10 goals during this period.

CHL CAREER: Following his junior career, he joined the Rangers' Central Hockey League affiliate, the Tulsa Oilers, and helped lead them to the league championship in 1983-84 while being selected as the league's co-MVP . . . Was 20-13-2 during the regular season, with the league's second best average (3.46) and was 4-0 in the playoffs with a league leading 2.50 mark . . . Earned three of the seven shutouts that were posted the whole season in the league.

JUNIOR CAREER: Signed as a free agent by the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds after being bypassed as a 16-year-old in the midget draft . . . In 1980-81 he won the Dinty Moore Trophy awarded to the rookie goalie with the lowest average . . . In 1982-83 he led OHL goaltenders in games (62) and was second in wins (39) as the Greyhounds record of 48-21-1 was the best in the league.

BACKGROUND: Has led Ranger goalies in games played each of last five seasons, reaching 50-game mark on four occasions . . . Suffered severe cuts to his left wrist in June of 1988 in a household accident and underwent microsurgery to repair a laceration to his ulnar nerve . . . Suffered a fractured jaw in 1989 while playing for U.S. in World Championships in Stockholm, Sweden, the following season . . . Always willing to help in charitable endeavors . . . Enjoys softball and golf during off-season . . . Baseball fan of Detroit Tigers . . . Nickname: "Beezer" . . . Married: wife, Rosalinde; Sons, Ian and Benjamin.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 10, 1981—Rangers' fifth choice (fourth round–72nd overall) in the 1981 Entry Draft.

Rangers Season Highlights

Streaks: Finished the season 20-10-6 in the last 36 games for the best record in the league over this stretch. Rangers were 3-3-1 in the last seven games, 10-6-2 in the last 18, 12-6-3 in the last 21 and 17-9-4 in last 30.

At Home: Rangers were 7-2-1 in the last 10 games at the Garden and 10-4-3 in last 17.

On The Road: Rangers were 3-4-1 in the last eight, 6-4-2 in the last 12 and 8-5-2 in the last 15 away from home.

Vs. The Patrick Division: Rangers were 7-4-0 in the last 11 and 9-5-1 in the last 15.

Rangers finished in first place for their first title since 1941-42.

Spent 107 days in first place, most since they occupied first for 107 days in the East Division in 1969-70.

Accumulated 85 points, most since 1983-84 when they had 93. Total of 36 wins is the second most since they had 42 in 1983-84 and 31 losses is the fewest since they had 29 in 1983-84. Total of 13 ties is the most since they had 14 in 1981-82.

11 home losses was the fewest since they had 10 Garden defeats in 1979-80.

16 road wins matches the most since the Rangers had 20 in 1981-82.

Allowed a total of 267 goals, the fewest since they gave up 251 in 1973-74.

119 goals allowed at home was the fewest since they gave up 102 in 1973-74 and 148 goals allowed on the road was the fewest since 1977-78 when they gave up 142.

Registered a total of 2,018 penalty minutes – a team record surpassing the 1,981 they had in 1980-81.

Scored a total of 103 power play goals, most in the league this season and the second most in team history (111 in 1987-88).

Used nine rookies in a single game twice, March 21 and March 27, most in team history in a single contest.

Recorded their 1,000th home ice win with a 4-3 victory over the Flyers on Jan. 14.

Had one four-game winning streak and three three-game winning streaks.

Allowed two or less goals in a single match 27 times (20-2-5).

Allowed more than three goals in only 10 of their 40 home games.

Went unbeaten in eight straight games (5-0-3) from Oct. 15-Oct. 28, longest unbeaten streak since March 8-March 26, 1982 (7-0-2).

Accumulated 23 points in first 16 games (10-3-3) for first time since 1978-79 when they also went 10-3-3 in first 16 contests.

Went unbeaten in first seven home games (5-0-2), longest home unbeaten streak since Feb. 20-March 16, 1980 (8-0-0).

Played to 0-0 tie at Nassau Coliseum on Dec. 9, 1989 for their first scoreless game since March 30, 1981 against the Flyers.

Posted a record of 8-6-1 against Adams Division teams, most victories vs. the Adams Division since they were 8-9-3 in 1979-80.

Swept season series from Boston (3-0-0) for the first time in their history and won twice in Boston Garden for the first time since 1966-67.

Went unbeaten against Edmonton (2-0-1) for the first time in their history.

Won all three clashes against Philadelphia at the Spectrum for the first time since 1971-72.

Rangers power play finished the season with at least one goal in a club record 21 straight games going 37 for 122 (30.3) over this stretch and at least one goal in 33 of the last 34 contests with 55 for 192 (28.6) over this span. Power play produced four goals in a single game twice, three PPG in a game on seven occasions and a pair of PPG in a contest 21 times. Power play notched at least one goal in 62 of the Rangers 80 games.

OFF THE ICE

NEW YORK RANGERS

THE RANGERS FIGHT CHILD ABUSE

For the past eight seasons, the New York Rangers have helped raise money for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect. The Rangers first got involved in the charity in 1983 when David Rothenberg, a young boy from Brooklyn, was set on fire and locked in a hotel room by his father. The Rangers wives found out that David was a Rangers fan and brought him to a game at the Garden. After the game, he was brought down to the Rangers lockerroom, introduced to all of the players, and given a jersey. Later he told his mother he had made some new friends and for the first time he slept without pain that night.

Ever since that time, the Rangers campaign to fight Child Abuse has grown each year.

The team has numerous events each year to benefit the charity, including the Exchange Club of Westchester's annual salute to the Rangers and "Tip-A-Player" nights, where the players serve as waiters.

Last year the salute to the Rangers dinner, held at the Westchester Marriott Hotel, raised over $50,000 and "Tip-A-Player" night, held at Steve's Wortendyke Inn in Midland Park, New Jersey, raised over $25,000.

Clockwise from below, John Ogrodnick (right), who was selected as Ranger of the Year by the New York Lottery Commission, donated his prize — 5,000 lottery tickets — to Efrain Centeno, executive director of the Westchester chapter of the Child Abuse Prevention Center of New York, as his wife, Bettyanne, looks on. Randy Moller signs a Rangers program for a young fan at the dinner. Darren Turcotte puts smiles on the faces of two young boys as he signs an autograph. Madison Square Garden Network's Bruce Beck served as master of ceremonies for the dinner.

RANGERS FAN CLUB

Now in its 42nd season, and with more than 700 members, the Rangers Fan Club is one of the most active clubs of its kind in the National Hockey League. Their extensive list of activities include monthly meetings at the Workmen's Circle at 45 East 33rd Street; the fan club dinner dance, where fans can sign up to dine with the players; a regularly published newsletter; season-ending awards and trips to watch the Rangers play on the road (this season trips are scheduled to Quebec, Montreal and Toronto).

In addition, the RFC often assists the Rangers organization with various charitable activities. Last season the RFC and the Rangers raised more than 2500 toys and over $2000 at the Toys for Tots campaign to get toys to underprivileged children at Christmas time and over 5500 pounds of food for Athletes Against Hunger to help feed the hungry of New York City.

The Fan Club is also active in the summer months raising money for charity. In May they raised over $1000 for the Leukemia Society at the annual Gelatin Jump; in July they participated in Bathtub races to help the American Cancer Society and in August they played in a softball tournament for Easter Seals.

HELPING THE CHILDREN

Each month during the season the Rangers players, usually five or six at a time, visit with children at a local hospital. The players cheer up the youngsters by bringing all types of gifts and spending two to three hours talking and playing with them. The program is not something that brings happiness just to the children — but to the players as well. Above, Mike Richter autographs a miniature hockey stick for a youngster at the St. Agnes Children's Rehabilitation Center in White Plains, New York. Below, Kris King poses with a few of the boys, and their new souvenirs, at the Children's Village in Dobbs Ferry, New York.

ICE HOCKEY IN HARLEM

The Upward Fund/Ice Hockey in Harlem program — now in its fourth year — is an organization that strives for academic and athletic excellence for inner city youngsters. Every Tuesday evening an ice hockey clinic is put on at Lasker Rink in Central Park. In addition, the Ice Hockey in Harlem program held a "Tip-A-Player" night at the Blue Moon Cafe last season, where several Rangers players acted as waiters, to help raise money for the organization.

Last January, Rangers coach Roger Neilson, along with several of the players, journeyed to Lasker Rink to conduct a clinic for the children in the program. OFFICIAL PRACTICE FACILITY OF THE NEW YORK RANGERS

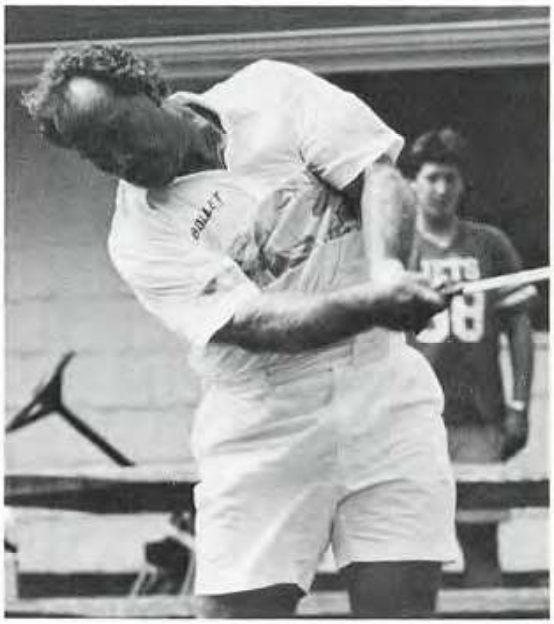
For the past 11 years the New York Rangers have held their training base and practice facility at Rye Playland's Ice Casino. Playland is one of the summer's hottest attractions, an amusement park featuring a rollercoaster named the "Dragon Coaster." Several times each season the Rangers hold practices that are open to the public at the Ice Casino. About 1000 fans watch the Rangers practice and when the session is over players will usually stay on the ice to give away pucks and sign autographs. This season, open practices are scheduled for October 7, November 25 and February 16. Top Left, Mark Hardy; Top Right, Darren Turcotte; Left, Kris King; Bottom, John Vanbiesbrouck.



SWINGERS FOR CHARITY

On August 27, goaltender John Vanbiesbrouck and former Ranger Chris Nilan held a golf tournament for the second straight year to benefit the Alan T. Brown Foundation to cure paralysis. The tournament, held at the Willow Ridge Country Club in Harrison, New York, raised over $160,000. John Paddock

Head Coach

On July 25th New York Rangers vice president and general manager Neil Smith announced that John Paddock will join the Rangers organization as coach of the Binghamton Rangers.

"We are very lucky to be adding a man of John's talents to the Rangers organization," said Smith. "He is a proven winner, who has a tremendous ability to teach and develop younger players."

Paddock, 36, who spent last season as assistant general manager of the Philadelphia Flyers, coached the Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League from 1985-86 to 1988-89. Paddock enjoyed four successful seasons as coach of the Bears, with the team compiling a record of 181-122-17, for a winning percentage of .592 during the regular season, and a 30-17 record in the playoffs, for a winning percentage of .638.

His most successful season came in 1987-88 when Hershey posted the AHL's best mark at 50-27-3 and he guided his team to a perfect 12-0 mark in the playoffs en route to winning the Calder Cup Championship. For his accomplishments he was named co-winner of the St. Louis A.R. Piere Memorial Award as the league's top coach, along with Mike Milbury.

In 1985-86 Paddock enjoyed another successful season and was named Minor League Coach of the Year by the Hockey News. The Bears posted a record of 48-29-3 and a berth in the Calder Cup Finals.

After 10 seasons as a professional hockey player, the native of Oak River, Manitoba, retired in November of 1983 to become coach of the Maine Mariners of the AHL. The Mariners posted a record of 33-36-11 that season and went on to win the Calder Cup Championship.

Paddock was drafted in the third round of the 1974 NHL Amateur Draft by the Washington Capitals from Brandon of the Western Hockey League. The right wing accumulated eight goals and 14 assists for 22 points in 87 games over parts of 5 seasons, with the Capitals, Flyers and Quebec Nordiques.

During his six year coaching career, he has coached many players that are currently in the NHL, including Rangers goaltenders Bob Froese and Mark Laforest.

John and his wife, Jill, reside in Oak River, Manitoba, with their three daughters, Jenny (11), Sally (eight) and Anna (five).

RANGERS MOVE DEVELOPMENT CLUB TO BINGHAMTON

"The New York Rangers are proud and pleased to give Binghamton the Rangers name," commented Rangers vice president and general manager Neil Smith at a press conference at the Arena Club of the Broome County Veterans Memorial Arena in Binghamton, New York on May 24.

Thus, Smith completed phase one of his plan to rebuild the team's development club by moving the team from Flint, Michigan to Binghamton, New York.

"Binghamton is close enough to greatly improve the movement of players between the development club and the parent club," added Smith.

Two months later Smith was back at the Arena Club completing phase two of his plan by naming John Paddock as head coach of the team.

"We are very lucky to be adding a man with John's talents to the Rangers organization," Smith stated in making the announcement. "He is a proven winner, who has a tremendous ability to teach and develop younger players."

A CAPSULE HISTORY OF MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

Madison Square Garden is well into its second century as the world's most famous sports and entertainment center.

A New York City landmark since 1879, the Garden moved in 1968 to its third site and fourth building, located in midtown Manhattan at Pennsylvania Plaza, bounded by Seventh and Eighth Avenues and 31st and 33rd Streets and standing above Pennsylvania Station. The home of the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association and the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, the Garden annually welcomes some four million guests to more than 400 events.

Madison Square Garden is currently undergoing an extensive renovation of its entire facility to create a state-of-the-art showplace which will include the 20,000-seat Arena and a new, 6,000-seat Forum Theater. The renewal project is scheduled for completion in September 1991.

The first Garden was located at Madison Square, 26th Street and Madison Avenue. The building, which had 28-foot walls without a roof, was officially named Madison Square Garden May 31, 1879, after being preceded at the site by P.T. Barnum's "Monster Classical and Geological Hippodrome" and "Gilmore's Garden's," named for noted band impresario Patrick S. Gilmore.

When problems with the first Garden became too much to overcome, a corporation was organized to construct a new building. Demolition of the old structure began in 1889 and a new, roofed Garden with a 320-foot tower designed by famed New York architect Stanford White was opened June 16, 1890 with a concert by Viennese conductor Eduard Strauss and his orchestra.

Thirty-four years later, Garden II came to its end when the New York Life Insurance Company, which held a mortgage on the land, decided to tear down the building in 1924. George (Tex) Rickard, a well-known boxing promoter, organized a group to undertake the construction of another Garden at a different location.

The third Garden replaced trolley car barns on a site between 49th and 50th Streets on Eighth Avenue. The building was constructed in 249 days and opened unofficially November 28, 1925 with the six-day bike races. The official opening event, on December 15, was a professional hockey game with the Montreal Canadiens defeating the New York Americans, 3-1. Under the leadership of Rickard and, later, General John Reed Kilpatrick, Ned Irish and Irving Mitchell Felt, the Garden steadily increased in stature.

In 1960, plans were announced for the new Madison Square Garden Center. The site above Pennsylvania Station was chosen for the Garden's new home and the construction process, including the demolition of the old above-ground railroad terminal, began in 1965. Garden IV opened as a glittering sports and entertainment showplace, with its distinctive circular, cable-suspended roof above the Arena and an adjacent 29-story office building, on February 11, 1968 with a superstar-studded "Salute to the USO" concert. Madison Square Garden celebrated its centennial anniversary on May 31, 1979.

Madison Square Garden is operated by the MSG Facilities Development and Management Group of Madison Square Garden, a Paramount Communications company.

A Brief History of The New York Rangers

The Rangers' Official Emblem

One of the proudest and most historic franchises in the National Hockey League. That's the New York Rangers, who are embarking on their 65th season of National Hockey League play in 1990-91.

Last season clearly marked the beginning of a brand new era in the storied history of the Rangers. The naming of Neil Smith as vice president and general manager of the team last July and his subsequent appointment of an entirely new management team, including the appointment of head coach Roger Neilson, directed the Rangers toward the decade of the 1990s.

Back in the 1920s and 1930s, the Rangers were known as "the classiest team in hockey," and the description was certainly an accurate one. In fact, few sporting teams have come into existence with such a wave of success.

Under the astute managership and coaching of Lester Patrick, hockey's famed "Silver Fox," the Rangers were nearly unbeatable in those early years.

Actually, the birth of the Rangers was something of a team effort that involved Patrick, Madison Square Garden fight promoter Tex Rickard and Conn Smythe, then a successful hockey man in Toronto.

Rickard had become fascinated with hockey, and was convinced the game would be enthusiastically supported in the Garden, the world's premier sports arena that had opened its doors just a year earlier.

The team was jocularly called "Tex's Rangers," and the latter part of the name stuck.

Patrick worked his magic from the very start. The Rangers were an instant smash, both on the ice and at the box office, as New Yorkers immediately took to hockey. Ranger games were the place to be in those days, and the club attracted a formal, "dinner-jacket" crowd to the games, which began at 8:45 P.M. The fans were headed by no less a personage than the Mayor of New York himself, the Honorable Jimmy Walker.

In their first 16 seasons, the Rangers missed the playoffs only once, and only twice did they fall lower than third place. New York won three regular-season championships in that span, finished second five times and third on six other occasions. They also won three Stanley Cups.

In short, the Rangers built an empire, and New Yorkers loved every minute of it.

The Original Rangers were led by the Cook brothers, Bill and Bun, and Frank Boucher, who won the Lady Byng Trophy so many times the league finally gave it to him permanently. Among the "originals," Bill Cook, Boucher, and colorful defenseman Ching Johnson all made it to the Hockey Hall of Fame.

As the "originals" started to fade out, they were replaced by another stellar group of Ranger stars. Boucher was now coaching the club, while Lester Patrick concentrated on the managerial chores.

Once again, New Yorkers had a brother combination to cheer for. This time it was Neil and Mac Colville, and Alex Shibicky was their linemate. High-scoring Bryan Hextall, fiery Phil Watson, the Patrick brothers, Lynn and Muzz, goalie Dave Kerr, and defensemen Babe Pratt and Art Coulter were all stalwarts of that era.

World War II broke up the gang of Ranger All-Stars, but despite the fall in the team's fortunes after the war, there were still many individual stars on Broadway. Chuck Rayner, Buddy O'Connor, Edgar Laprade, Hy Buller, and Bones Raleigh were standouts in the late Forties and early Fifties.

The arrival of Andy Bathgate in New York signalled another era in Ranger history. Bathgate, twice a first team All-Star, and then the holder of most Ranger scoring records, was the Rangers' superstar for almost a decade. Little Camille Henry, goalie Gump Worsley, Harry Howell, and Dean Prentice were other fans' favorites.

Some 10 years later, another star right wing heralded the Rangers' newest era. Rod Gilbert eventually eclipsed all of Bathgate's scoring records with the club, and played a decade and a half of stellar hockey in New York.

Other stars of that era included Gilbert's linemates, Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield, goalie Ed Giacomin, defenseman Brad Park, and center Walt Tkaczuk.

New stars like Anders Hedberg, Ulf Nilsson, Barry Beck, Ron Greschner, Phil Esposito, John Davidson, and the Maloney brothers, Dave and Don, ushered the Rangers into a decade of the 1980s. The team dramatically marched to the Stanley Cup Finals in 1979, and showed real signs of returning to the days of past glory.

Future glory—in the form of the Stanley Cup—is the clear goal of the Rangers' Neil Smith and he is committed to that.

Says Smith: "Stability and a hard work ethic will bring the Stanley Cup to New York. When? We'll have to wait and see. But the reason it will come is because we're creating a stable environment and from that, winning will come."

Spoken like a man who knows how to win, who has won before, and is now the vice-president and general manager of the New York Rangers, only the ninth man to hold that position in the 65-year history of the Rangers.

AWARDS

STEVEN McDONALD AWARD

Following the 1987-88 season, the Rangers, in conjunction with Mitsubishi Motors, presented a new award dedicated to paralyzed New York City police officer Steven McDonald called the Steven McDonald Extra Effort Award for the Ranger player "who goes above and beyond the call of duty." The inaugural winner was left wing Jan Erixon and the winner of the award for the 1988-89 season was right wing Tony Granato. Last season the fans voting was so close that there were co-winners, goaltender John Vanbiesbrouck and center Kelly Kisio. Both players received brand new Mitsubishi Eclipse GS Turbos. Above left, Don Lavin, eastern sales manager of Mitsubishi Motors (left) presents a check for $15,000 to the McDonald Foundation. Accepting the award with Steven is his wife, Patty Ann and their son, Conor, as Rangers vice president and general manager Neil Smith looks on. Left, Smith announced the winners of the award to the Madison Square Garden fans. Below, Kisio (far left) and Vanbiesbrouck (in uniform) accept the trophies.

LARS-ERIK SJOBERG AWARD

For the second straight year, the New York Rangers, in conjunction with the Professional Hockey Writer's Association, presented the Lars-Erik Sjoberg Award, symbolic of the best rookie in training camp.

Sjoberg was the Rangers European Scout from 1980 until he passed away in October of 1987.

Goaltender Mike Richter won the inaugural award in 1988 and the 1989 winner was left wing Troy Mallette.

MULLEN GOES HOME

Last season, Rangers right wing Brian Mullen returned to visit his old roller hockey league at the New York School of Printing in the Hell's Kitchen area of Manhattan. Mullen, who lived in the apartment building across the street from the schoolyard, played in the roller hockey league with his three older brothers, Tom, Ken and Joe (now with the Pittsburgh Penguins).
